

SINCE 1997

Over 20 years, we have been working hard for Thailand's elephants to enhance their wellness and welfare. To solve serious problems of street begging elephants and unemployed mahout, we brought elephants from every corner to live together with sufficient supplies and shelters while mahouts were employed to take care of them. This solution can carry on traditional career which reflect closed relationship between man and elephant, and also conserve Thailand's elephant population. We have taken this beautiful tradition and its historic background to show to the tourists. At Kok Chang safari, they can learn and understand all dimensions about elephants including their roles to the country, evolution, species, how to treat, and breeding. We ensure that our tourists will get exceptional experience and opportunity to be close with elephant through several activities.
